

GRANT TAYLOR DEAD AT KURTZ

Injured Two Weeks Ago by Fall from Threshing Machine Near Cortland.

ACCIDENT CAUSED PARALYSIS

Frank Schleuser Kicked by Horse Tuesday Morning and Died Wednesday Evening.

Grant Taylor, who was severely injured about two weeks ago, by falling from the top of a threshing machine while at work near Cortland, died Wednesday evening about six o'clock at his home near Kurtz from the effect of the injuries received in the accident. He was employed with a number of other threshers and was working on the top of the machine. In some manner he fell backward and struck the ground with great force, falling on his shoulders and back. Immediately after the accident, he was taken to his home and every effort made to give him relief. From the time of the accident it was known that he was seriously injured, but it was believed at first that he would recover. Later, however, he was stricken with paralysis and for over a week has been unable to move his limbs. He has practically been helpless for several days.

The deceased leaves a wife and two children, one daughter and one son. The funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at his late home. Burial at Gorbett's cemetery.

FRANK SCHLEUSER

Kicked by Horse and Dies from Injury.

Frank Schleuser died about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of his father, Gus Schleuser, just north of White Lick church and four miles southeast of Waymaville. His death was the result of being kicked in the stomach by a horse Tuesday morning. When hurt he was plowing in a field some distance from the house and, though suffering greatly, managed to mount the horse and ride home. A physician from Jonesville was summoned and later two Columbus physicians were called in consultation, but they were unable to save the young man. He remained conscious until just before his death. He was twenty-one years of age and unmarried.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the house at 1:30, and at the church at 2. They will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Barda.

Fined by Mayor.

Wednesday morning Mayor Swope fined Otto Vest $1 and costs on the charge of committing assault and battery on his wife. She complained that he had slapped and otherwise abused her. Otto could only remember having pushed her. The couple settled their difficulties in court and agreed to live together in peace. He agreed also to go to work.

Oldest Citizen.

Richard R. Lamaster, probably the oldest citizen in Scott county, at least the oldest native born citizen, passed away on Saturday, September 3, in his eighty-eight year.

He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Belle Boyd, at Mineral Springs, Bartholomew county, where he had been for several months. He was born in Lexington township, where he has practically lived all his his parents emigrating to Indiana from Kentucky while the country was an unbroken wilderness. He was a democrat of the Andrew Jackson sort, and in religious belief was a Baptist, holding his membership at Kimberlin church.

Since becoming aged he has resided most of the time with his son, John W. Lamaster, in Scottsburg.—Scott County Journal.

MOVING DAY.

County Officials at Brownstown Leave Court House.

This was moving day for county officials at Brownstown. All of them vacated the court house, the work on the building having reached a point to make this necessary. Court will be held in the K. of P. club rooms. The clerk moved to the K. of P. building, the recorder to the Masonic building, the sheriff transferred his headquarters to the jail; the superintendent located in the Brownstown State Bank building, and the auditor and treasurer moved to rooms on the north side of the square.

The recorder and treasurer were compelled to take many of their books to their new quarters, but the clerk and auditor stored all their records possible in the vaults. Many old records were taken to the basement.

Property Sold.

E. C. Bollinger, as agent, has sold the Earl M. Cox property on North Chestnut street, to J. T. Jones, of the P., C. & St. L. railroad, for $1,900 cash. Mr. Jones will move to his new home about the first of October and Mr. and Mrs. Cox expect to leave at that time for an extended trip through the South and Southwest, as they have engagements booked ahead to keep them on the road most of the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Cox are contemplating building here in the spring.

Mad Dog Scare.

There was a mad dog scare in the southeast part of this city this morning and Marshal Abell was telephoned for. He responded promptly, but Isaac Burrell, street commissioner, was ahead of him and had killed the dog with an ax. It belonged to Ed Ferrell and was on a lot in the rear of the American chair factory building. It is thought the dog had simply been poisoned.

Prize Beans.

Mrs. Harrison Dowell of No 6, east Brown street, sent to the Republican this week, some samples of beans that are prize winners. The pods are two feet long and one of them contained seventeen beans. She has one vine and on one are eight of these pods. The vine came from a stray bean which came with some seed she bought last spring.

SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENT.

Superintendent Linke Gives Out Plans for Conducting Classes.

Superintendent J. A. Linke has announced the plan for conducting the various classes while the Shields building is under way of construction. While some of the pupils will necessarily be inconvenienced to some degree by attending classes at the ward buildings, the superintendent and board desire that the parents give their assistance in sending their children to school regularly.

To accommodate the Shields pupils, they have arranged to have half-day sessions in both the Park and Laurel street buildings. The morning session will begin at 8 o'clock and close at 12, and the regular pupils of these buildings will attend this session. The teachers in charge of this session at the park are Mentoria McDonald, Sadie B. Frey, Kathryn Short and Maggie Brown; at the Laurel Street, Daisy Alwes, Katherine Voshrine, Nellie Switzer and Nina Patrick.

The afternoon session will begin at 12 and close at 4:30 o'clock, and the grades and teachers will be located as follows:

- Shields 1, at Park, Mary Misch.
- Shields 2, at Laurel Street, Edith Flenkiken.
- Shields 3 and 4B, at Laurel Street, Elsie Cordes.
- Shields 4A and 5, at Park, Nell Phelan.
- Shields 6, at Laurel Street, Adelaide Miller.
- Shields 7, at Laurel Street, Amy Roegge.
- Shields 8, Park, Elizabeth Rinehart and Emma Alwes.

Those pupils who know what grade they are in will know where and when to go.

The lines dividing the school wards will remain the same as last year, until we see fit to change them.

MANY CASES FILED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Docket Shows Twenty-six Divorce Suits Pending—Many Continued from Last Term.

COURT WILL CONVENE MONDAY

Large Number of Civil Cases Filed, Including Damage Suit for $15,000.

The Jackson circuit court will convene Monday for the September term. About the usual number of cases have been filed since the adjournment of the April term and several of them are of public interest. There are twenty-six divorce cases on file, nearly half of which were either filed or continued from the previous term.

One murder charge, that of the state against Garfield Bohall, will be tried this term, the jury in the previous trial having failed to agree upon a verdict.

A number of new cases have been filed, which will probably be tried this term. Jessie H. Lewis has filed suit against John G. Offut and others upon a judgement. In January, 1893, Lewis C. Abraham recovered a judgement against the defendant for the sum of $1324.20, which judgment was transferred to the plaintiff in October, 1894, for value received. The plaintiff says that said judgment has not been paid and that the same is now due, together with six per cent. interest in the aggregate sum of $1398.58, wherefore judgment is demanded against the defendants in the sum of $2722.78.

Other civil cases which have been filed are:

John F. Nieweddie, executor of the will of Henry Rebber, deceased, vs Dora Kinworthy et al; replevin. Elizabeth Hancock et al; vs Nannie Buchanan et al; partition. State et rel Isaac A. Bridgewater vs Charles Calvert et al; civil action. State ex rel Mack Hammond vs Frank Wall; to recover money lost at gaming. Wm. H. Peter vs August H. Pollert; ejectment and to quiet title. Gustave Hackman vs Louis Melloncamp; possession of real estate and damage. Hamlin Smith vs Fred H. Brown et al; foreclosure of mortgage. Benton J. Barringer vs Rosa Fry et al; partition. Jeremiah Henderson vs James H. Terrell; note and account. Mm. Coryell vs Rudolph Buhner; for accounting. Jacob Rider vs James P. Rider, for support. Elmer Sullivan vs I. C. & S. Traction Co., damages. State ex rel Edna Smith vs Nelson Sewell, Jr.; paternity charge. James A. White et al vs Jacob White et al; partition. Elmer Bollinger vs Charles Vincent et al; to quiet title. John W. Smart et al ex parte; partition for drain.

William L. Bedel has asked for a divorce from his wife, Sallie B. Bedel. They were married May 7, 1910, and separated August 16, 1910. The plaintiff alleges cruel treatment as cause for divorce; that the defendant cursed and abused him and called him indecent names, that she also refused to cook his meals and attend to her housework and other charges of a more serious nature.

Emma Roemmel is the plaintiff in a divorce case against her husband, John Roemmel. The plaintiff alleges that they were married July 4th, 1906, and separated April 23, 1910. Cruel and inhuman treatment are alleged as causes for divorce. The plaintiff asks to have the care and custody of their only child aged two years; also $500 alimony and $10 per month for the support of said child.

Clifford Sage vs Hattie B. Sage, divorce. They were married March 30, 1907, and separated September 26, 1909. The plaintiff charges the defendant with cruel and inhuman treatment by calling him vile and indecent names, refusing to cook his meals and other more serious charges. He also asks for the care and custody of their two children, one aged two years and the other ten months.

Other divorces cases have also been filed as follows:

Mary Dunlap vs Chas. Dunlap. Alonzo Smith vs Kate Smith. Lena Cordell vs James Cordell. Mayme D. Blevins vs Chas. L. Blevins.

Metta Edwards vs Addison C. Edwards. Taylor Trowbridge vs Elizabeth Trowbridge.

Ella Corthum vs Wm. Corthum. Emma Jones vs Frank Jones. Edw. Guffey vs Ella May Guffey.

Martha Williams vs John Williams. Edna Carter vs Everett Carter. Amanda C. Brown vs Able Willis Brown.

Mary C. Grider vs Chas. Grider. Hampton Marling vs Melvina Marling.

Geo. W. Kelsch vs Anna Kelsch. Geo. R. Brown vs Mary E. Brown. Mary Trowbridge vs Emmitt Trowbridge.

Volley Jefferson vs Alma Jefferson. Maude Hollowell vs Noble Hollowell. Adda Borenstein vs Nathan Borenstein.

Wm. R. Vermilya vs Bertha T. Vermilya. Michael Surface vs Julia A. Surface; divorce.

Myrtle Bolin vs Alonzo Bolin; divorce, asking $500 alimony. The state cases which are on the docket are:

Sherman D. Hill; violating liquor law. John Brownfield; larceny. Linton Coppin; petit larceny. John Van de Walle; exceeding speed limit. Jesse Farber; larceny.

OFFICERS ELECTED

By Knights and Ladies of Security. Anniversary Celebration.

The Knights and Ladies of Security last night celebrated the third anniversary of the establishment of the order in this city. The ladies had the hall beautifully decorated with the colors of the order and many bouquets of flowers. It was the time for regular election and the following officers were named to serve the next six months:

President—Martha A. Bollinger. Vice-President—Daisy Hopple. Second President—Mary Mackey. Prelate—Bessie Bollinger. Recording Secretary—Joseph Beal. Financier—John Congdon. Conductor—Mary Jones. Guard—Lydia Ewing. Sentinel—Carl Jobstovgt.

After the business was finished and the lodge closed an entertaining program of music and recitations was given.

Refreshments of cake and cream were served and there was a social time that was greatly enjoyed by all. It was not until a late hour that the Knights and Ladies departed for their homes.

FILES SUIT.

Mrs. Julia A. Surface Asks for $10,000 from Mrs. Elizabeth Beatty.

A suit was filed in the Jackson circuit court this morning by Mrs. Julia A. Surface against Mrs. Elizabeth Beatty, in which the plaintiff demands of the defendant damages in the sum of $10,000 for the alleged alienation of her husband's affections. The complaint was filed in the Bartholomew circuit court several weeks ago, but as the defendant lives in this county, the papers were withdrawn and filed in the Jackson circuit court.

Mrs. Surface alleges in her complaint that Mrs. Beatty enticed her husband away from her and that she now has complete control over him. She further alleges that Mrs. Beatty and her husband raised chickens in partnership and that since the death of Hiram Beatty, the husband of the defendant, Surface has spent most of his time at the Beatty home.

A FINE CHANCE FOR MORMONS IN MEXICO

Opportunities So Favorable Utah May Be Abandoned.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 7.—Following the sale of 50,000 acres of land in Coahuila, Mexico, opposite Eagle Pass, Tex., to the Mormons, comes the report from Prophet Hamilton Smith of the Mormon church, that Diaz has promised the Mormons liberty for the full practice of their religion, which means polygamy without interference. This officer of the church further states that Utah will be abandoned by his people, who find more profitable homes in Mexico, where they will no longer suffer religious persecution.

The Mormons have a well-organized colony on 65,000 acres of land adjoining this 50,000-acre tract just acquired, and they hold options on nearly a half million more acres of good land in that vicinity. The colony established in Mexico in the state of Chihuahua nearly three years ago, and which a year ago moved to the 65,000 acres in Coahuila, was a test colony sent to Mexico by the Utah Mormons to study conditions, the treatment of the Mexican government, and to pave the way for the acquirement of more if everything was satisfactory.

Mexico waives the duty on all Mormon property moved, including all machinery and stock. Taxes are also waived for twenty-five years, and while the price of the land is not made public, it is said it amounts practically to a gift from the Mexican owners to the Mormons.

THE CRIPPEN CASE

Alleged Murderer of Belle Elmore Arraigned in Bow Street Court.

London, Sept. 7.—At the opening of the trial of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, who is charged with the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, the prosecution announced that large quantities of poison had been found in the woman's body, and that there were evidences that she had been subjected to an operation.

The hearing of Crippen and Miss Ethel Clare Le Neve, his typist, is being held in the Bow street police court. Although there is a charge of murder against the girl, the prosecution has indicated that it will try her only on the charge of being an accessory after the commission of the alleged crime.

Long Aerial Journey Ended.

London, Sept. 7.—John B. Moissant, the Chicago aviator, reached the Crystal palace last evening, completing his flight from Paris to London in exactly three weeks. He had been delayed half a dozen times by accidents. Moissant flew in splendid manner over the twenty-five miles remaining to complete the full trip.

SOCIETY WOMEN MINING FOR DEATH VALLEY GOLD.

Laughed at by Husbands, but Succeeded Anyway.

In this progressive age of woman when "she stoops to conquer" she usually does the act so well that she turns the comedy into high class drama.

This is the fact in the case of two Los Angeles society women who have been for two years engaged in a mining undertaking. These women are Mrs. Beatrice Hubbell Plummer, a soprano of high social standing, and Mrs. Florence H. Baker, an attractive young society woman, formerly of Fort Wayne, Ind., now of Los Angeles.

These women on account of their husbands' large investments became interested in properties situated at the opening of the old time romantic Death valley, in San Bernardino county, Cal. "Why not make a fortune for ourselves?" they said. They bought khaki suits and outfits and set forth to conquer.

There were two old prospectors on the claims, men who had driven teams and packed borax for Smith & Searles in the old Death valley of the fifties. There had been no white woman in the country since their knowledge, and the old men smiled incredulously when they saw the two rare specimens.

They worked hard, and they found things—gold—free milling gold and silver and a little copper. They had small fortunes of their own, and they were not afraid to put them in the venture. They became large stockholders as well as prospectors.

FAMOUS BEACH IS DOOMED.

Hawaiians Mourn Ocean Ravages at Waikiki, Near Honolulu.

The famous Waikiki beach near Honolulu is rapidly being washed away, and only immediate strenuous exertion can save it. The dredger that is engaged in filling in the swamp land recently condemned and purchased by the government as a site for the Fort de Russy military post is responsible for the destruction of the famous resort.

For several months the sand has gradually been washing away from the beach, exposing the sharp coral and making it impossible to bathe along most of the beach without danger of being badly cut up by the knife-like edges, but lately the work of destruction has increased rapidly, and as a consequence the bathhouses of the Moana and Seaside hotels and many of the trees on the lawns of those hostleries are in danger of falling into the sea.

GENTILES IN MORMON SHRINE

But Repairers of Angel Moroni Statue Saw No Secrets.

For the first time since the consecration of the edifice in 1893 gentile feet recently trod the sacred precincts of the Mormon temple in Salt Lake City. Arthur Smith and Peter Munyon, steeplejacks, with two helpers, were admitted to repair the statue of the angel Moroni, which surmounts the tallest spire of the temple. They were taken to the top of the tower in an elevator and did not penetrate the apartments in which marriages and baptisms for the dead are solemnized.

The chief damage to the gilded figure of the angel on the spire was the dislocation of a trumpet held to its lips. The explosion of a charge of dynamite across the street tore the trumpet from its fastenings. Smith hoisted himself to the pinnacle, 225 feet from the ground, and soon repaired the damage.

HOUSEKEEPER AT TEN YEARS

Parents Teach Daughter Domestic Science in Toy House.

To give his ten-year-old daughter a practical training in housekeeping F. Waldemar Hoosler has built a miniature home for her in the rear of his residence in Brooklyn. Her parents supply her with money each week, and she must pay all her bills out of this allotment.

The little building is equipped with every culinary appliance and everything needed to keep a house in order. The child has been conducting her home for a week and appears to be delighted with her experience. For the convenience of her playmates her home has been numbered 71A Linden avenue. She has a "day at home," when her friends drop in for a chat around a well arranged tea table. Dominoes is the game instead of bridge whist.

Workers' Insurance Successful.

Industrial insurance in Germany (compulsory) is apparently successful. From 1885 to 1907 the employers contributed $973,300,000, the workmen $851,587,500 and the government $121,662,500, a total of $1,946,550,000, or nearly $2,000,000,000. In 1906 out of every 1,000 day laborers 853 were protected by sick benefit, all of them against accident and 850 against old age and disability. More than 9,000,000 persons in industry and 11,000,000 in agriculture and forestry are protected by accident insurance.

British Capital Invades Russia.

English interests have recently arranged to purchase quite a large block of the stock of the Russian Trading and Industrial bank at St. Petersburg, thus creating a new field for British capital. The stock of the bank is $7,000,000, with a reserve fund of over $1,500,000.

MAIL CATCHING DEVICE.

Delivers and Receives Mail Bags From Moving Trains.

A new mail catching device which not only delivers mail bags to fast moving trains, but receives them as well, handling two or more bags as easily as one, is being installed on the Freeport division of the Illinois Central railroad.

The unique feature of the catching device is the baggy steel chain nets, which operate in the following manner:

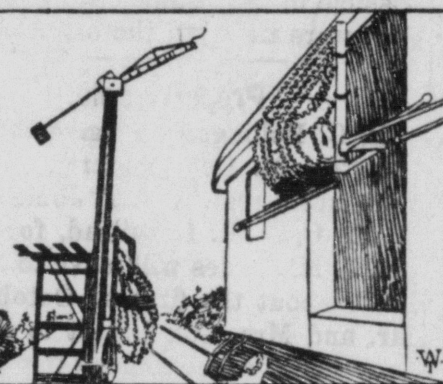

DEVICE IN OPERATIVE POSITION.

ner: Attached to the outside of the mail car is a square steel frame, to which the chain net is attached. This frame is made to swing on hinges attached to sliding bars so as to permit the device to be quickly shifted from one side of the car door to the other, according to the direction in which the car is moving. Attached to the lower outside corner of the frame is the one end of an iron rod, with the other end traveling on a bar attached to the car side containing a set of spiral springs so adjusted as to bear by compression the shock resulting from the frame and net catching the mail bags. On the same outside corner of the frame, below where the rod is attached, is a hook or finger for the attachment of the bags to be delivered.

The roadside device, which acts in conjunction with the one attached to the side of the car, is similar in all respects, except that the bags it delivers to the train are hung above the receiving net, while with the car device the bags hang below the net.

The illustrations show clearly how the device operates. One of them shows the car approaching the roadside catcher, with two bags in position to be delivered to the station and one bag in position to be delivered to the train. The devices meet as the train rushes past, and the exchange is made, the force of impact being absorbed in the slack of the chain net and by spiral springs. The reflex action of the springs throws the frames and chain nets back, as shown in the lower illustration, with the mail bag surrounded by the nets.—Popular Mechanics.

Revolution in Gasmaking.

By use of vertical retorts an English inventor has so improved the system of gasmaking that his work promises what is practically a revolution in this industry. By constructing retorts that are fed from the top and by providing for new circulation of hot gases the designer has lessened the cost of production and raised the quality of all the products of the gasmaking process to a wonderful degree. The principal feature of his improvement is the continuous carbonization of coal, which he has secured in place of the older intermittent process. Instead of constant fresh drawing and changing of retorts, requiring the labor of many men, he has accomplished an unbroken feed of coal and ejection of coke without waste, with little handling and without any of the extremely unpleasant accompaniments of former processes. He has produced gas at a cost of only a fraction of former costs and has increased the volume and the ease of manufacture for space and capital involved.

Paint Ore of Pennsylvania.

Beds of "paint ore," an iron carbonate containing 33 per cent of metallic iron, are found in southern Carbon county, in Pennsylvania, in an east and west strip that ranges in width from half a mile to two miles and is about twenty miles long. The ore occurs in a two foot bed that lies between a cement rock and a clay bed. It is mined at two places. The paint made from it is free from grit, is very durable and requires no drier. It is mixed with boiled linseed oil and used for painting ships, railroad cars, tin roofs and other metal surfaces, and also as a filler for oilcloth and linoleum.

The Lizard Fog Bell.

The British government has placed a submarine bell off the Lizard. It is suspended from a heavy tripod, which was lowered to the bed of the ocean at a point about two miles from land. The bell is connected by cable with the lighthouse, from which it is operated. It is anticipated that, since steamers passing up the channel all approach the Lizard, the bell will be of great assistance to them, particularly in time of fog.

A FASHION CHAT ON EFFECTIVE STYLES

Furnished by Pictorial Review

222 West 39th Street, New York City

Vivid splashes of color mark the garden-party dress and others of a like formal nature. Dabs of bright, cherry color which are very artistic give the desirable chicness to many black-and-white, gray or apple-green frocks. These reds and bright rose colors also play a leading hand in the color scheme. The delicate green, known as almond, is worn by old and young alike and it is, for the most part, a very becoming shade. It is especially successful combined with white and with a soft fine lace collar or yoke.

Lingerie gowns are covered with English embroidery combined with baby Irish and fine cluny, and the color note may be a hem of cerise chiffon and folds of the color deftly introduced under the edge of yoke, flat collar and sleeve edge. Sometimes the embroidery itself is of rose color, blue or the fashionable violet shade, so often seen in linen suits.

Of course white is naturally the leader now, during the summer months, but to give a white frock a really good style, it must have a dash of color and that, too, in sharp contrast.

Simplicity and lines of beauty characterizes PICTORIAL REVIEW MODEL No. 3544. It is an attractive frock in which the very fashionable embroidered flouncing is employed. The lower part of the blouse has a straight upper edge so that flouncing or bordered goods may be used. There are five gores in the top of the skirt and it is joined to the body by a belt. It may have a high neck if preferred. The sizes are 32-34-36-38 and 40 inches bust measure, and as illustrated the medium size requires 2 1/2 yards of plain material 36 inches wide and 5 1/2 yards of flouncing 34 inches deep and 10 yards of insertion.

Linen suits and costumes are unusually beautiful this season. The linen is to be found in the most delightful sort of weaves, and is often trimmed with soft silk folds in addition to the embroidery and braiding so universally used. Short jackets of all kinds are finished with moire, satin or dull-silk collars and cuffs. Pongee and black satin make very smart trimmings for tourists coats. Small pearl buttons or Irish crochet buttons with cord loops are also a trimming feature.

There are always cool days during the summer months at the mountains and seashore which bring a certain demand for just such a suit as is shown in PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3470-3468. Black serge with an almost invisible stripe or white serge with a very thin black stripe or even plain blue serge would be excellent materials for this suit. The style is exceedingly smart and the lines are graceful. Coat sizes are 32-34-36-38-40 and 42 inches bust measure, and a medium size requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch wide material. The skirt sizes are 22-24-26-28 and 30 inches waist measure, and 6 1/2 yards of 36-inch material is required for a medium size.

Many of the most attractive wash frocks of the summer are of very inexpensive material and are of the simplest design. Gingham, linen, cotton, foulard, cotton pongee and many mercerized cotton fabrics are employed in all the fashionable shades. A great many women prefer their wash dresses in one piece, and even in a shirt-waist dress they frequently join waist and skirt. But others prefer them separate and so both are worn. The price of patterns, models of which are illustrated on this page, are 15 cents each number, including cutting and construction guides.

Indiana Mexican Veterans Meet For Last Time.

AGE'S INROADS TOO SEVERE

With the Close of State Reunion of the Survivors of Indiana's Quota to the War With Mexico, Now Being Held in Indianapolis, It is Said No Further Effort Will Be Made by Aged Veterans to Get Together.

Indianapolis, Sept. 7.—The Mexican war veterans, only twenty-eight of whom survive in Indiana, met here in their thirty-sixth annual reunion, and were addressed by former Vice President Fairbanks, who acted as chairman of the meeting, and Senator Beveridge. Mr. Fairbanks spoke feelingly of the brave example set by the Mexican vets and scored the demagogues and the time servers. Senator Beveridge's address was an appeal to the young men and young women of the country "to value more highly the blood flowing in their veins from heroic and unselfish ancestors than they would value the mightiest fortunes inherited from materially successful ancestors."

F. A. Hardy of Piqua, O., was the oldest veteran to register. He was ninety-two years old his last birthday. Jerry Hudson of Greenfield was the youngest to register. Mr. Hudson was seventy-nine years old. The average age of all the persons registering was approximately eighty-four years.

Waiting to receive the visitors at the steps leading to the south entrance of the statehouse were fifty little girls, all in white, and bearing white carnations. These little people escorted the veterans to the capitol and, dividing in the lobby, formed a line on either side of the passage way, and as the visitors passed between them, they presented each one with a flower. One veteran, whose sight had long since failed him and who was led by his faithful wife, laid his hand on the head of one of the girls and blessed her.

The visitors were taken to the senate chamber, where their eyes grew moist and their voices more unsteady as they looked on the flags which had been brought forth from the state's storehouse of treasures and hung on the west side of the chamber, where they greeted the veterans for the first time since they were folded after the last surrender of the Mexican war.

It is said this is the last meeting the veterans will hold, the members being too old and not sufficiently well off financially to provide for future meetings. Today the visitors were taken to Fort Benjamin Harrison in automobiles to view the army maneuvers.

KILLED COMPANION

Hunter Thought His Friend, Who Had Climbed a Tree, Was a Squirrel.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 7.—Mistaking the bare head of Thomas Holden, aged nineteen, for that of a squirrel, William Bowles, aged thirty-five, fired a heavy charge of shot into Holden's body, causing his death three hours later. The men had gone hunting near Holden's home, three miles west of the city, but had become separated. Holden climbed a tree to dislodge a squirrel, when Bowles fired the fatal shot. One hundred and ninety shot entered Holden's chest. He clung to a limb until Bowles climbed the tree and carried him to the ground. Holden was a prominent young man and a nephew of James D. Holden, secretary-treasurer of district No. 8 United Mine Workers of America.

The census bureau has, up to this date, announced the population of twenty-five cities having a population of over 100,000 inhabitants each. All but seven of these cities made a greater absolute increase of population in the decade 1900 to 1910 than in the preceding decade, 1890 to 1900.

BETTER THAN ILL TREATMENT

Earning Her Own Livelihood by a Woman Is Preferable to Open Disrespect.

LET the woman who is held in scant regard by her husband and children earn her own living rather than submit to such treatment.

The woman who allows herself to be cowed mentally or physically is as much to be blamed as the man who bullies her.

There is a certain type of woman born to be beaten as well as a certain type of man who is made brutal by contact with this long suffering, patient type of femininity.

Let every woman keep her pride, keep it from the very first and allow no disrespect whatever.

The love which exists without respect is the love which leads to blows, desertions and other indignities not restricted altogether to the poor, if one reads the divorce and separation records.

A woman should be queen in her own home, and—let it be spoken frankly—if she is not treated in the right way by her husband she had far better leave his house, where she is not respected, and earn her living than eat the bread of humiliation and have her children grow up despising her.

It is a poor home marred by quarrels and the mutual disrespect of father and mother.

Caring For the Orphan.

The orphans are certainly having their innings nowadays. The demand on the asylums is such that the authorities can hardly attend to all who apply for children to adopt. Nowadays, observes a writer on the subject,

A LOAD OF ORPHANS.

It is no longer a source of pride to adopt an orphan, but rather to be permitted to adopt an orphan.

Antecedents are carefully looked into by the authorities, and they are most particular in their choice.

In spite of this, large train loads of little ones are taken to good homes, particularly in the farming districts of the west. The picture shows a load of orphans arriving at their destination.

A Word to the Lingerer.

Of all the insidious habits being late for engagements, trains, etc., is the worst. Women begin by "just missing" things, and from that to keeping their friends in a chronic state of waiting is only a step. Some women never look at the clock. They don't even have a reliable timepiece in the house and evidently believe "time was made for slaves." After a time they wonder why their invitations become beautifully less. Being late is not the only thing about unpunctuality. Every person who is chronically late is also, consciously or unconsciously, a first class excuse maker, which means liar.

MAUD ROBINSON.

Long Skirts Coming Back.

The signs of the times are indicating that the long skirt is coming back, except for the severer coat and skirt, and the authorities are explaining that it is because hats are to be so high that we must once again put up with the troublesome trail.

A Cheap Floor Polish.

Save all the ends of candles, put them in a jar and melt on the stove. Mix the wax with enough turpentine to make a soft paste, and you have an excellent polish for linoleum, etc.

TO PROSPER STUDY FARMS

Secretary Wilson Gives Advice to Tillers of the Soil.

AT CONSERVATION CONGRESS

Department of Agriculture Has Sent Men Broadcast Into the World to Glean Information on How to Make the Land More Productive—What the Government Has Accomplished in This Important Direction.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7.—"The most important feature of farm conservation is the soil," said Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, in his address before the conservation congress today. "The farmer prospers while the soil responds to his work and yields good crops; he ceases to do well when the soil refuses to respond to his labor."

"The people of the older nations take care of soil fertility as a matter of prime necessity and long ago ascertained the proper succession of crops, their relation to the soil and the feeding of men and animals. They knew the soil must be fed and the proper physical conditions to maintain, and learned from experience how to do it. "During the short history of our country we have had new soils to draw upon when exhaustion resulted from the robbing process, and much of the nation's prosperity is the equivalent of what the soil has lost. Our people have been well fed, and until recently they have been cheaply fed. This has been due in part no doubt to the occupancy of land easily obtainable as soon as the older refused to yield abundantly, and is one of the prime causes of farm desertion that are now attracting so much attention."

"The federal government is expending large sums to irrigate more land, which is wise, but the amount of water impounded is small compared with the volume that flows to waste. In a recent visit to the mountain states I saw that the most advanced localities are every year making more reservoirs to hold winter and spring flows of waters that go free of man's restraint to the ocean."

"The department of agriculture, in obedience to congressional requirement, is exploring similar lands that exist under similar conditions throughout the old world. Some success is being had. A wheat from Africa and Asia gives us 60,000,000 bushels a year from the high lying light rainfall states; a grass and alfalfa from Turkistan, alfalfas, clovers and vetches from Siberia, oats from northern Sweden, millets from the orient, sorghum from Africa, are samples of what are being found by our explorers that thrive on our highlands of the west."

Where the Weather Is Hot.

Bahrien, on the Persian gulf, is said to be one of the hottest places on earth. For six consecutive weeks there the thermometer has been known to stay above 100 in the shade. It varies the monotony, however, by occasional climbs to 125 degrees or so. There is no rainfall, and no wells exist, for attempts to reach water even at a depth of 500 feet have failed. However, in the bed of the ocean, a mile from shore, copious springs of fresh water gush out. This water is caught and brought to land in goatskin bags by native divers, who sell their merchandise at good prices. These submarine springs are said to be supplied from a mountain 600 miles away.

The Expensive Promoter.

"That man's time is worth $90 a minute," said the mathematician. "More than that," replied the reckless investor. "He once gave me five minutes of his time when I was looking for advice and it cost me several thousand dollars."—Washington Star.

Three Who Are Making Successes of Breeding and Rearing Scotch Terriers—Nan Aspinwall, Who Will Ride From San Francisco to New York—Italy's Queen Becomes a Girl Again With Her Children.

THERE are three women in this country who make a specialty of breeding Scotch terriers and have grown famous at it—Miss Fanny Brooks of Hyde Park, Mass.; Mrs. Brazier of New York and Miss Margaret Brigham of Grafton, Mass. The Scotch terrier has won his way into the hearts of all classes. He is hardy and easy to raise and sells for good prices.

His temper is particularly even with children, and he has no sly, ugly ways about him.

Queen Elena of Italy is never so happy as when buying dolls and toys for her children. She takes such pleasure in selecting these she almost becomes a little girl again. The queen's tastes are becoming more simple as the years pass, and the court ceremonial has become very irksome to her. She is never more happy than when at the seashore with the king and her children. Her hobby just now is the camera, and she has taken charming pictures of the children at play.

Mrs. Sage Encourages Aviation.

Mrs. Sage was a visitor at the Aero club's aviation field at Garden City, N. Y., recently as the guest of Miss E. L. Todd, whose work on an aeroplane of her own design has earned for her the distinction of being America's only woman aviator.

"I hope to see many women engaged in the efforts to solve the problem of human flight," said Mrs. Sage. "I am earnestly interested in all efforts made by women along such lines and shall gladly give them any aid in my power."

"Of course I receive hundreds of letters from inventors who seek my assistance, and I cannot give aid indiscriminately. But I shall gladly help any woman who has a practical plan."

Mrs. Charles Oelrichs wears the largest hat in Newport. This is a large affair, almost entirely covering her face. It is the apotheosis of the "down on the head" hat. Friends of Mrs. Oelrichs are said to tell her by her walk.

EXCELLENT MEETING.

Interesting Addresses and Discussions Given at Baptist Association.

The Baptist Association meeting at Brownstown was largely attended and was a most interesting session. Rev. F. M. Huckleberry, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, was elected moderator, and O. M. Foster, clerk.

The program was not carried out entirely as announced on account of the absence of several of the speakers. The places of the absent speakers, however, were taken by members present and good addresses were given. Wednesday afternoon Dr. L. P. V. Williams, of Whiteland, spoke upon the "Value of the Country Church," and his address was greatly enjoyed. The subject of the excellent address of Rev. T. C. Smith, of Indianapolis, was, "How to Realize the Ideal Country Church," was given this afternoon. The subject of "Temperance" was discussed by T. C. Foster, followed by a general discussion by the Association. Rev. T. L. Ketman, of Chicago, gave a talk upon the Northern Baptist Association, and Misses Peterson and Nelle Morgan spoke upon their work in the mission fields. The doctrinal sermon was preached by Rev. T. C. Smith, and C. H. Overman gave a report on Ministers' Aid Society.

This evening Miss Peterson gave another address and Professor Adams, of Franklin College, spoke upon "Christian Education."

Funeral Services.

The funeral services of Miss Elizabeth Murdock were held at the family residence on North Walnut street this afternoon. The services were largely attended by the many friends of the deceased and her parents.

The home of Louis Bolander, a farmer near Columbus, was set on fire Tuesday and two corsets were the cause of it. Lightning struck a chimney on the home, and tearing it off, preceeded down into the building and, being attracted by the steel stays in the corsets, the lightning struck them, setting them on fire. The corsets in turn set the house on fire, but it was put out before any great damage was done.—Indianapolis Star.

Bolander formerly lived near Pleasant Grove and is well known in this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Steinkamp have moved into their home on west Fourth street.

PARTY DIVIDES THE COMMITTEE

Resolution Adverse to Ballinger May Be Reversed.

NO QUORUM, SAYS CHAIRMAN

In the Absence of Full Committee, the Minority Members and Representative Madison Pass Resolution Recommending Secretary Ballinger's Dismissal, but Nelson Rules No Quorum and Later Vote Will Be Taken.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—Gifford Pinchot was in his room at the St. Paul hotel with his teeth in a juicy pear when the first report that the investigating committee had decided against Ballinger was told him. He withdrew his teeth quietly, looked intently at the reporter who bore the news and asked for all particulars regarding the matter of the committee's decision. Beyond saying "That is very interesting news," he had absolutely nothing to say. He said he would make no statement. In the room with him at the time were Senator Beveridge, Mr. Pinchot's brother, and Thomas R. Shipp of Indianapolis, executive secretary of the conservation congress.

The Ballinger-Pinchot congressional investigating committee adopted a resolution at its session at the West hotel, Minneapolis, that Secretary Ballinger be removed from his office. Two Republican members of the committee, McCall of Massachusetts and Senator Sutherland of Utah, left the committee room before the committee adjourned and went to another room in the hotel, evidently for a conference. The remaining members of the committee, including all the Democratic members, and Representative Madison of Kansas, who is generally credited with having anti-Ballinger inclinations, told the waiting reporters that the secretary of the committee would prepare a statement later. None of the members would say a word about their action.

The committee declared in their opinion Ballinger had been unfaithful to his duty, and recommended that he be removed from office.

The resolution was offered by Senator Fletcher of Florida, and was later modified by a resolution offered by Mr. Madison of Kansas, which was in turn amended by one by Representative James of Kentucky, Democrat. The reason given by McCall and Sutherland for refusing to vote upon the resolution was that the other members of the committee had not had a chance to vote. When called on to vote on the resolution, Senator Nelson voted "present." The resolution asking for the removal of Ballinger was passed by a vote of Senators Fletcher and Purcell, and James, Graham and Madison, representatives. The four first named are Democrats and Madison is a progressive Republican. The Democratic members replied that they had been months considering the evidence, that a quorum was present and had a right to transact business. Senator Nelson, the chairman of the committee, voted "present" himself, and then made the ruling that no quorum was present. The committee then took a recess until Friday at 10 o'clock, at which time reports in keeping with the resolution of Fletcher and the amendment thereto offered by Mr. Madison will be submitted.

As soon as Senator Sutherland and Representative McCall found that the issue was to be pressed to a conclusion they left the committee and did not return, on the ground that it was unfair to the absent members and to Ballinger to act without a full committee. After a short conference they went to the long-distance phone and asked for several New York state points, probably trying to get in touch with Senator Root, who landed in New York Tuesday night after a trip to Europe. It is believed that they will be able to get him here by Friday morning. Representative Denby of Michigan and Representative Olmsted of Pennsylvania are now on their way here, and both will arrive before Friday morning. Senator Flint of California is understood to be traveling in Europe and can't be reached. If all the members of the majority except Madison stand together it will make the committee a tie. It is pointed out that the present action of the committee will in no manner prevent the making of a report of a different tenor approved by the majority. It is, therefore, pretty certain that Senator Nelson and his followers in the committee will make a special report as they think fit before the matter is officially presented to congress.

The Beverly View of It. Beverly, Mass., Sept. 8.—Mr. Taft declined to comment on the vote of the Democratic members and Insurgent Madison against Secretary Ballinger. The action of the Democratic-Insurgent committee members is regarded chiefly as an effort to draw out the majority report of the committee before the fall elections. The majority report, it is said, will sustain Secretary Ballinger. The action of the Democrats and Insurgent Madison was therefore chiefly political. They apparently wanted to get themselves on record before the election and also to force out the majority report.

SHIFTED FRONT AGAIN

Democratic Managers Relegate John W. Kern to the Rear.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—The Democratic managers have shifted front again. Once more it is John W. Kern to the rear. The keynote speech opening the Democratic campaign in Indiana is to be taken out of the mouth of John W. Kern, senatorial "endorsee," and is to be put into the mouth of Governor Marshall. The opening gun will be fired on state issues. Then will come Senator Shively on national questions. Mr. Kern possibly will be permitted to impersonate the political graphophone, reproducing the words of other men.

The natural thing, and the expected thing was a Kern keynote. Kern is the campaign keystone—the center of the arch. Democratic managers expected to put Mr. Kern forward to make the campaign opener. The plans were made. Who objected? Some say Senator Shively bucked. Some assert that Steve Fleming and John E. Lamb made demands on behalf of the Democratic governor. It is likely there was a little Shively hate and a little Marshall stubbornness in the deal. Anyway, Mr. Kern's speech, prepared in Michigan with great care during many days of retirement and painful thought, is mostly waste.

There is a story to the effect that Mr. Kern prepared a speech demanding immediate revision on a tariff-for-revenue-only basis, said revision to be made by the enemies of the protective principle. It is said that Senator Shively refused to permit the speech to be made. The Democratic state platform, being a straddle to catch votes, evades the tariff issue. The tariff straddle was the work of Senator Shively, who desires to make the campaign against the tariff commission idea, and for a return to the era of low commodity prices and low wages. Kern, urged by Governor Marshall, has renewed the cry of 1892 for a Democratic attack on protection. In this John E. Lamb agrees with Marshall and Kern and W. J. Bryan adds his voice. But it appears Senator Shively may have his way. So the free trade keynote of Kern is in pickle. In its place is to be a Marshall speech on state issues, strictly. Whatever Governor Marshall may say of national questions or of free trade, which he favors, will be thrown in by him without the consent of the bosses.

By confining Governor Marshall to state issues; by turning over to Senator Shively and his friends the discussion of national questions, and by enforcing silence on John W. Kern, so far as possible, until his masters have given him his cue, it is hoped by Democratic managers that the issues may be handled to suit them. Mr. Kern is to keynote, if at all, in the country outside Indianapolis. There is no desire on the part of Democratic managers to give Mr. Kern's words wider publicity than is accorded to Senator Shively. The Shively bitterness against Kern appears at every turn of the road.

The pitiable helplessness of Democratic managers in the absence of Thomas Taggart from the state has been shown in strong relief in the last few days. Starting with a display of inefficiency and heaviness which put off the appointment of an election commissioner for the Democratic party until far too late, things have gone from bad to worse. Bernard Korby was chosen to be election commissioner. He refused to serve on the ground that his appointment had been so long delayed as to put him in a position of responsibility without giving him time to make good. The refusal of Korby made a vacancy which Chairman Stokes Jackson was called on to fill. He has been unable or unwilling to take the responsibility on his own account.

At this time of year under former management, the work of preparing for the state election was half done. This year the whole task is yet to be performed. It is a large and important work. It involves the printing of hundreds of thousands of ballots, sheets of various sorts, and the preparation of supplies for thousands of voting precincts. The delay caused by the Democratic state committee's backward conduct is a source of worry. The Democratic governor gave it out flatly, Wednesday, that the commission would meet this morning, whether the Democratic state chairman had picked a commissioner or not.

The fact that Thomas Taggart, premier boss of the Democratic state machine was not within call, and that he could not be reached by wire, may account for the delay in naming an election commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by Bernard Korby's resignation. Indiana again waits on Taggart. Assuredly Stokes Jackson could not be expected to take the initiative in a matter involving patronage. It is one of the chief characteristics of Taggart's benevolent bossism that in matters of patronage the subordinate state chairman has no say as to where the plum shall drop. One can readily see how necessary it was to get in touch with Thomas Taggart before awarding a prize. Just as in the nomination for superintendent of public instruction, Mr. Taggart must have the final word.

Snakes.

Of all kind provisions of nature perhaps the manner in which snakes are brought into the world is the most remarkable. As a rule, all harmless snakes are hatched from eggs, arriving in batches of from thirty to eighty. The poisonous snakes, on the other hand, are born in litters of from seven to eleven in number. There are exceptions to the rule, of course, but they are few and unimportant, for, though the deadly king cobra lays her eggs to be hatched by the sun, they are few in number, unlike the colonies deposited by the harmless snakes.

NEW CORSET MODELS ARE HERE

We have just received the new models of Thomson's "Glove Fitting" Corsets

THEY are designed to give that long, slim, lithesome appearance to the waist and to reduce the size of the hips very materially. This is accomplished by the unusual tailoring of the corset.

Stout women especially will realize the importance of these features. Reduction is accomplished by the tailoring and not by the strappings and accessories used on the patented "reducers."

There is a model for every figure be it stout or slender.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

The county council of Daviess county has authorized an appropriation of $200 to be used as a reward for the capture of chicken thieves who have been working there this summer. The farmers report that over $2,000 worth of chickens have been stolen during the past few months. The appropriation was made upon the request of a committee of farmers. In many counties reports have been made of thefts of this character and even in Jackson county there has been considerable loss.

The picture of Joseph Balseley, of Indianapolis, formerly of this city, appeared in the Indianapolis Star this morning. He is the secretary of the Old Soldiers' Club of that city and has had much to do with arranging for a meeting at which Senator Beveridge will speak.

Ruth, the eleven-year-old daughter of J. H. Kamman, has typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas have gone to housekeeping in this city.

People Who Used to Eat Spiders.

The enjoyment of particular kinds of food is, after all, a matter of custom, and the African who revels in white ants is no more peculiar in his tastes than the European who eats cheese mites. A lady whom M. Reaumur knew was accustomed to devour spiders as fast as she could catch them, and a German lady gave it as her opinion that these creatures resembled in taste the most delicious nuts. A fellow countryman of this lady was in the habit of regularly hunting spiders in his own and his friends' houses. He used to spread them on bread. Rozel tells us, and vowed that they were far pleasanter to the palate than butter-Cornhill Magazine.

When the Japanese Advise.
The Japanese have an original way of advertising, and they apply to the art all the poetry that their oriental imagination is capable of. They have recourse to the most varied and improvised methods, and their combinations are sometimes as picturesque as they are original. A Japanese merchant informs his customers that his goods are sent off with the rapidity of a shot. A stationer calls his knowledge of natural history to his aid thus: "Our wonderful paper is as durable as the hide of an elephant." A Tokyo grocer borrows from psychology and in mordant language announces that "our vinegar of extra quality is sharper than the bitterness of the most diabolical of mothers-in-law."

Music and Dancing.

It does not follow that in order to write successful dance music a person must be an expert dancer. It is said that, though Johann Strauss and his family wrote dance music for three or four generations, not one of them could dance a step.

MEXICO BEGINS ITS LIBERTY CENTENNIAL

One Thousand Municipalities Devote September to Celebration of Their Independence.

Nations of the Earth Send Special Envoys to Participate in Gorgeous Festivities

ONE thousand municipalities of Mexico have begun to celebrate the centennial of the nation's independence. From Sonora to Yucatan the republic is aflame by day with flags, streamers and festoons of bunting. Eight million electric lights give a luminous setting to the night fiestas.

During the month of September the minds of peon, charro, jefe politico, merchant, soldier, seaman, student, clergy and statesman will be focused on the story of Mexico since Miguel Hidalgo, the priest of Dolores, rang the village bell toward midnight of Sept. 15, 1810, and proclaimed freedom from the rule of Spain.

Every nation of the world, save three or four, will send official representatives to join in the festal acclaim. Carrying the greetings of the United States will be Curtis Guild, Jr., of Massachusetts, special ambassador representing the president, and a distinguished party of senators, representatives and laymen.

Americans living in Mexico have decided to commemorate the centennial with a peace shaft to cost $50,000 in gold.

Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany is sending emissaries to unveil a statue of Alexander von Humboldt, his gift to the republic of Mexico. Baron von Humboldt made a journey for scientific research in Mexico nearly a decade before Hidalgo became a martyr of liberty.

Spain Returns Relic.

Spain will signify her consent that bygone shall be considered bygone by returning the uniform of the revolutionary general and patriot, General Jose Maria Morelos. The king of Spain has entrusted this famous relic of war to his special ambassador, who will present it amid great rejoicing to President Diaz.

At the instant the uniform changes hands a salute of twenty-one guns will be fired, bells in all the churches of Mexico will be rung, fireworks will shoot upward, bands will play the national air, and the Mexican flag will be broken over the national palace.

The government of France, in token of her friendliness, will give back to Mexico the symbolic silver keys which were presented to General Elie Frederic Forey, commander of the French troops, when he entered the capital in 1863 and established a provisional government. It is an international amity that will stir the Mexican heart to its depths.

The emperor of China will bestow a memorial the nature of which has not been disclosed. The Ottoman empire will present a costly clock tower to stand in the capital, a memento of Turkish friendship. Japan will display a shipload of her wares in the Crystal palace and leave, besides, some substantial token of her regard.

Hidalgo, Morelos and other heroes will be apotheosized in a hundred ways on a hundred occasions. Of the living, President Diaz will be most toasted. Others whose names will be linked with the progress of Mexico are Vice President Ramon Corral and Senor Jose Yves Limantour, minister of finance and a recognized genius in monetary science and statesmanship.

Mexico City will be the splendid center of things. For months the capital has been burnishing itself for the coming of its guests. Governor Land of the federal district intends there shall be everywhere in his domain the neatness of a hausfrau's kitchen.

Capital Making Ready.

Streets have been paved anew. Nearly every block in town is resplendent in a fresh coat of paint. Avenues, alleys and patios smell of cleanliness. On the zocalo, or Plaza Mayor, the great cathedral has been scrubbed inside and out. On the Hill of the Grasshopper the glories of the castle of Chapultepec, the summer home of the president, have been recalled from the dinginess of age. The magnificent Louis XIV, state dining room is a new dream of the splendor of another day. The Pompeian corridor presents its figures in colors that glow.

Matching the immaculate aspect of the city will be the prim holiday look of the people. The unconventional white garb of the peon is under an official ban during the month of September. Those who wish to mingle in the crowds of the public fiestas must be clothed in European style. They are admonished, under penalty of banishment from the view, to be scrupulously clean in dress and person.

That none may have the excuse of poverty to hide behind, the municipality will provide free baths, free shaves, free hair cuts and free laundries for the recleaning of soiled linen. The heavy hand of the law will close upon the palm of the beggar that is outstretched for largess. The alms seeker will be cared for, but in places where visitors may not see. In the vernacular, Mexico is going to put up a front and wear her Sunday clothes week days.

Mexican hospitality will be lavished as never before upon the nation's guests. Visiting notables are to have carriages and automobiles at their disposal at all times without a cent for tribute. Special servants at the beck and call of their temporary masters day and night are provided for. Each dignitary from a sister power will have a postoffice box of his own and a carrier in livery specially detailed to deliver and call for his mail three times daily.

Some of the delegates to the congress of Americanists will be quartered in the famous old Iturbide hotel, that massive pile into whose patio the American officers rode their horses in 1847 and stabled them where the guests might look down from the balconies upon them.

Lavish Hospitality Promised.

Of all the glorious fetes which the Mexicans have prepared themselves and their guests, those on Sept. 15, 16 and 19 will be the ones of particular splendor. They have been planned on a scale of grandeur quite unprecedented in the history of Mexico and rarely equaled anywhere in the western hemisphere.

Centuries of Mexican life are to be revealed in a living panorama stretching from the iron horse to the zocalo. This pageant of the past and present will move through the Paseo de la Reforma and Avenida San Francisco and Juarez to the national palace, where the decisive incidents of Mexican history will be re-enacted.

All periods are to be represented, from the days of the Aztec and Tlaxcalan warriors down through the era of the conquistadores, the earlier re-

Hidalgo in 1810. He was made prisoner in November, 1815, was taken to Mexico and shot. General Guerrero was another patriot of independence who subsequently joined forces with Iturbide, led a revolt against that notable when he became emperor and finally became president of the old republic in 1829. Later in the same year he was driven out, captured and shot.

"The Miracle Maid" In Fire.

Another presentment in pyrotechnics will be the standard of Hidalgo, together with a likeness of the Virgin of Guadalupe, the miracle maid of Mexico, who revealed herself to the Indian chief hunting on the hill of Toluque and bade him seek and find her image under the maguay.

Primed by these flaming pictures for the new call to loyalty and patriotism, the populace in the zocalo and on the buildings roundabout will wait the witching moment of twenty minutes past 11 o'clock. At that instant, under the star studded sky and standing out on the little balcony in the facade of the national palace, President Diaz will sound the first note from the old independence bell which Hidalgo rang at the like hour a hundred years ago.

It will be a signal for huzzas from every throat. The electric flag on the lofty dome of the cathedral near by will burst into light and wave its luminous greeting to the throng below. A trained choir of hundreds of members will sound the first chord of the centennial hymn. The 8,000,000 lights throughout the republic will be turned on full force, and millions will join in a long distance response to the joyful proceedings in the zocalo.

On the following day, Sept. 16, the monument to independence in the Paseo de la Reforma is to be dedicated, the ceremony to be followed with a parade of 10,000 troops under the declaration arches and on to the national palace for review. This parade will give a good idea of the strength of the military arm of the nation.

In the way of social functions the reception by President Diaz in the national palace on the night of Sept. 19 will eclipse all previous standards of Mexican magnificence. It is to be a $200,000 affair, with 500 servants in publics, the empires and on into the regime of Porfirio Diaz. Antiquarians, historians, archaeologists, clergy and college professors have scanned for years the national archives to make sure that all representations are accurate as to arms, standards, costumes and customs.

Pageant Carefully Planned.

In the column will be groups impersonating emperors, princes, noblemen, priests, jesters, warriors, servants, monks, slingers, Tlaxcalan soldiers, drummers, trumpeters, Indian tribes, Spanish soldiers and insurgents. Two thousand costumes, specially designed along lines laid down by the delvers of history, have been prepared for this living moving picture of Mexican annals. The avenues through which the parade will pass will be like shallow canyons burgeoning on their walls with the national colors.

Following the parade in the morning will be free theater entertainments and a free bullfight in the afternoon. When dusk comes the whole city will blossom out in light, the center of the illumination scheme being in and around the zocalo.

This plaza is truly a historic spot. Here stood the Aztec temple destroyed centuries ago. Subsequently the plaza became a market place, whose shops and booths were destroyed by fire in 1611, were rebuilt and wrecked again by riot and fire in 1632. On days of national celebrations, the 16th of September, the 5th of May and the 2d of April, Mexican troops are here reviewed and national salutes are fired.

Early evening will see thousands of Mexican patriots in the zocalo, waiting for the climax of the festivities of Sept. 15. Fireworks will form the first part of the program. A striking feature will be a pyrotechnical fountain. Heroic portraits of Morelos and General Vicente Guerrero in fire will be presented.

General Jose Maria Morelos was one of the priests who joined the revolt of costume specially imported from Europe for the occasion. The grand ball, whither will be gathered the beauty, the chivalry and the officialdom of Mexico and the other powers, is to be staged in the central patio of the palace. Over the patio has been reared a huge canopy of steel weighing hundreds of tons.

In the larger cities of the republic there will be doings quite as interesting. If not so elaborate, as those at the capital. In Chihuahua, capital of the state of that name, the new $1,000,000 palace is to be dedicated. In anticipation of the centennial Chihuahua has spent $1,500,000 for fountains, public baths, bridges, asphalt pavements, garbage crematory and other public improvements.

Other Cities to Celebrate.

This is the state of Senor Henrique C. Creel, recently appointed minister of foreign relations and one of the richest and most progressive men of Mexico. The Porfirio Diaz school building, erected at a cost of $75,000, is to be dedicated. President Diaz laid the cornerstone of this structure nearly a year ago.

Vera Cruz, the thriving port on the east coast, is to have a floral parade and a battle of confetti on the day and night of Sept. 14. That city will dedicate a monument to Hidalgo and a memorial slab to the cadets who fell in defense of that city in 1812. On Sept. 17 all the sailors in port on war vessels are to be given an outing, with a bullfight for zest. The monument to Hidalgo is to be Mexico what the Bartholdi statue in New York is to the United States. Vera Cruz also dedicates the Benito Juarez lighthouse.

Guanajuato is to commemorate the fall of Granaditas castle with a historical parade, representing, among others, Christopher Columbus, Montezuma and his court, Isabella of Spain and her court, Hernan Cortes, the conquistadores, Hidalgo and other patriots of 1810 and groups of artisans on decorated floats.

ROME PLANNING VAST EXPOSITION

Celebrates Half Century of Italian Kingdom in 1911.

RIVALS ANCIENT SPLENDOR.

Fair to Be Greatest Feature in Art, History and Archaeology in World's History—Memorial Buildings and Bridges to Be Dedicated With Magnificent Pageants.

An international exhibition of art, history and archaeology is to be held in Rome from May to October, 1911, simultaneously with an international industrial exhibition in Turin, and both will commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the kingdom of Italy.

It is hoped that, besides the exhibition in Rome, the event will be celebrated by the inauguration of several important buildings, such as the monument to Victor Emmanuel II, on the capitol, the new chamber of deputies and the new palace of justice. A new bridge over the Tiber, named after the first king of united Italy, will be opened to traffic; the ancient baths of Diocletian will be restored, and the so-called archaeological promenade in the valley between the Aventine and Coelian hills, where many ruins of ancient Rome exist, will be completed.

Then a zoological garden will be opened in the Villa Borghese, a horse show and Olympic games will be held, and last, but not least, an aviation meeting is being organized.

Many Shows Planned.

Three shows of archaeology will be held in the restored baths of Diocletian. There will also be one of art, for which a special building is being constructed, and one of mediaeval and modern history in the castle of St. Angelo.

The program further includes a special ethnographical show, which will constitute the characteristic feature of the celebration, as it will consist of a complete collection of everything that has any connection with the manners, customs, arts and costumes of the different regions of Italy. This show will occupy an area of about a mile square on the right bank of the Tiber, where each of the twelve regions of Italy will have a separate building, generally a reproduction of the best historical specimen of architecture that the region can boast of.

Thus Venice will have a typical fifteenth century house, Sardinia a mediaeval tower, Sicily a castle recalling Arabo-Norman constructions, Liguria a palace of the fourteenth century, when the republic of Genoa flourished, and so on.

It is proposed to reconstruct one of the ancient imperial fora with twelve columns, symbolizing the twelve regions of Italy, and a high central column with the statue of Rome on top with a light in her hand which will illuminate the exhibition grounds. An artificial lake and the reproduction of an ancient nymphaeum with waterfalls close to the Tiber will form the background of the Roman Forum.

Program Is Vast.

Besides the pavilions of the regions which will reproduce the life and history in each province of the country, there will be those erected by foreign countries. Then there will be a special exhibition of architecture showing the best types of modern houses. Several inclosures will be used for side-shows, and finally there will be pageants and processions, fireworks, musical entertainments and concerts, operas and plays and national and international congresses.

The program for the Rome exhibition is so vast that if carried out as intended the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the kingdom of Italy will be unparalleled in modern times. It will recall one of the triumphs of imperial Rome and show that the modern Romans have retained some of the traits of their ancestors.

YVETTE GUILBERT FOR VOTES

Also Strong Protector of Impoverished Parisian Actresses.

The interesting confession made by that famous French actress Yvette Guilbert recently to the effect that she is an ardent suffragette and wants a vote recalls the keen interest which she takes in the rights of women, particularly those of her own profession.

"I want to defend our profession," she says; "to enable all actresses to earn enough money to live respectably and to stop the abuse of the weakness of women."

In Paris she has founded an organization to provide poorly paid actresses with dresses, so that they may be able to get work. In this way she has helped 450 women.

PRODUCE GROWERS ORGANIZE

Find Italian Middlemen Sell Vegetables at Vast Profit.

In Italy producers of vegetables are combining against the exactions and rapacity of the middlemen, and Consul J. Q. Wood reports from Venice that recently the truck gardeners of Chioggia organized a selling society, as an investigation revealed that many of their vegetables were selling in Venice at 100 per cent higher than the price secured for them at the farm.

SANITARY BASEBOARD.

New Type of Interior Finish Eliminates Square Corners.

In finishing the interior of dwellings the right angle corner formed by the baseboard and the floor, either with or without a quarter round, has never been quite satisfactory. The square corners catch the dirt, and the pieces forming it have a tendency to warp and form cracks. The accompanying sketch shows a new type of a two piece baseboard which entirely eliminates these troubles. The lower piece joins the flooring and is laid with it, while the top piece is put on after the interior is finished. When complete it has a very neat and pleasing appearance, and it is also sanitary.—Popular Mechanics.

TO PREVENT JOLTING.

German Invents Substitute For the Pneumatic Tire.

Automobilists undoubtedly will hail with delight the invention of a former German infantry officer by the use of which the running of an automobile over a pavement curb would result in the occupants of the car feeling no jolt. It is asserted that cobblestones and uneven country roads may be negotiated in automobiles with as much freedom from discomfort as is experienced by passengers on railroad trains.

In reporting the invention to the state department Consul Talbot J. Talbot of Brunswick, Germany, sends the following translation describing it: "The greatest difficulty in automobile co' n has been the pneumatic hooping of the wheels. The tires are a constant source of worry and, in case of explosion, of danger to the owners of such vehicles. All substitutes, such as spring wheels or solid rubber hoops, have failed to supplant the pneumatic tire. The solid rubber hooping is too dear and, besides, does not possess the requisite elasticity.

"A former German infantry officer has apparently succeeded in solving the difficulty. He has shifted the point of elasticity, which formerly consisted of metal spring plates under the body of the wagon, to the axles of the wheels by an ingenious angle lever system. The result is astonishing. The inventor uses ship's cable for hooping, but even with wooden wheels he can maintain a completely elastic course over cobblestones, country roads, etc., as the wagon jolts are no longer up and down, but move in a horizontal plane, forward and backward. He can cross the pavement curb without the occupants of the automobile feeling a jolt, as the body of the wagon is not raised, as formerly, but drawn under."

In Bad Fix

"I had a mishap at the age of 41, which left me in bad fix," writes Mrs. Georgia Usher, of Conyers, Ga. "I was unconscious for three days, and after that I would have fainting spells, dizziness, nervousness, sick headache, heart palpitation and many strange feelings. "I suffered greatly with ailments due to the change of life and had 3 doctors, but they did no good, so I concluded to try Cardui. "Since taking Cardui, I am so much better and can do all my housework."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Do not allow yourself to get into a bad fix. You might get in so bad you would find it hard to get out.

Better take Cardui while there is time, while you are still in moderately good health, just to conserve your strength and keep you in tip top condition.

In this way your troubles, whatever they are, will gradually grow smaller instead of larger—you will be on the up-grade instead of the down—and by and bye you will arrive at the north pole of perfect health.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. AUGUSTE VESPERMANN, De Forest, Wisconsin.

Another Operation Avoided.
New Orleans, La.—“For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation.”—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

If you want special advice about your case write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

John William Brown was born on a farm near Kurtz, March 1, 1860. He was the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown. He died August 25, 1910, at 9:20 o'clock p. m. During early manhood he was married to a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bowman, of Houston, to which union two children were born, one of whom died in infancy and the other, Mrs. Ova J. Shields, died November 21, 1909. After the death of his first wife he was married to Elizabeth Lockman on May 30, 1886. They resided in Houston till 1893, when they moved to this place, where he was engaged in the mercantile business until the time of his death. Owing to his ability as a business man, he had built up a thriving trade and won the full confidence of all with whom he had dealings. He was honored and respected by a large circle of friends, as was shown by the floral tributes which were many and beautiful. His illness of locomotor ataxia covered a period of four years, during which time he was a constant sufferer. He was a member of the Christian church at Houston. The funeral was conducted from the residence Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, by Rev. G. M. Shotts, after which the remains were taken to Seymour for burial in Riverview cemetery. Besides a wife, he leaves three children: Carrie, Eunice and Bruce; two brothers and one sister, Mrs. Asbury Manuel, Albert and Mack Brown. His presence will not be missed in the home alone, but in the community, where he had been so long and well known. We extend to the family our deepest sympathy.

“Can be depended upon” is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

B. H. Lett, while roofing a barn for Harry Shaver, south of town, fell through the roof, striking the ground with his head and shoulders, sustaining fatal injuries. He was removed to his home but continued to grow worse and died Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He was a member of the Knight of Pythias lodge, which had charge of the funeral services, which were held Tuesday afternoon. He leaves a wife and two children, father, mother and two brothers.

William Alexander has a child dangerously sick with typhoid fever.

Miss Clara Sanford is home from Indianapolis, where she has been all summer.

Ellis and Harlan Trowbridge were here from Homer, Ill., to attend the funeral of B. H. Lett, their brother-in-law.

STATES' RIGHTS GETS A BACKSET

That Wing of the Conservationists in Full Retreat.

THEY GOT IT ON ALL SIDES

First Staggered by Vigorous Assaults of Theodore Roosevelt; Then Harried by Organization of Committee on Resolutions, They Were Put Utterly to Rout When Senator Beveridge Tilted His Lance Against Them.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—The state rights forces in the conservation congress are in full retreat.

Staggered by the vigorous assault of Theodore Roosevelt and defeated Tuesday evening in the organization of the committee on resolutions, the rout was complete yesterday, and to Senator Beveridge of Indiana belongs the credit.

"The United States is. The American people are a nation—not forty-six nations. In war we fight under one flag for our common safety; in peace let us strive under one flag for our common welfare." This was the keynote of the Indiana senator's speech.

In the most brilliant and fiery address yet delivered before the congress, Mr. Beveridge drove his lance full against the so-called "western idea" of conservation. In it he paid a glowing tribute to Gifford Pinchot, starting a demonstration at the auditorium for the deposed chief forester which rivalled the one in honor of Roosevelt Tuesday and plainly showed that the friends of Mr. Pinchot are in control of the congress. If Monday was President Taft's day at the congress and Tuesday the day of Roosevelt, Wednesday was surely Gifford Pinchot's day. And the fact that Mr. Beveridge was the chief orator did not detract from the honors paid the leading spirit in the conservation movement.

Overshadowed on previous days by the two most distinguished men in the country, Mr. Pinchot had not been in the limelight before; in fact, he had not taken an active part in the sessions. But Wednesday it was different. Mr. Pinchot was not on the program, but he continually hovered behind the scenes consulting with President B. N. Baker and Secretary Thos. R. Shipp, directing and advising. And at the close of Senator Beveridge's speech so loud and insistent were the calls for Mr. Pinchot that he stepped to the front and made a few impromptu remarks. An ovation greeted him.

Many of the delegates from the mountain and Pacific coast states who fostered the states' rights idea, had already gone home. Before the states' rights people got away some of the western governors were talking of calling another conservation congress in the west at which, as they say, they will have an opportunity for free speech. The open charge that the states' rights people were here as the agents and tools of the corporations that are seeking to obtain possession of the water power of this country was too much for the westerners. They felt they had been insulted and maligned and so they decided to get out. Of course, the fight is not over. This conservation congress does not make laws. At the next session of congress the bill introduced by Senator Smoot of Utah, turning the water power sites over to the states, will come up for action. It has many supporters in congress, and it is by no means certain that it can be defeated.

James J. Hill in an address before the conservation congress claimed the credit for first pointing out to Americans the danger of soil spoliation, and declared that conservation itself must be conserved.

William Holman-Hunt, the artist, is dead in London at the age of 83.

WISCONSIN SURELY LIKES LAFOLLETTE

Full Returns From Tuesday's Primaries Indicate This.

Milwaukee, Sept. 8.—In Tuesday's primaries the voters selected La Follette candidates for legislative nominations to such an extent that if the Republican party is victorious in November, there will be no question as to the return of Mr. La Follette.

Francis E. McGovern, with the La Follette support pretty well centered behind him, carried the state for the Republican nomination for governor with a plurality which will run about 25,000. The entire La Follette state ticket is nominated. Even Frank Tucker, who killed himself last week at Oshkosh, received a plurality vote for the Republican nomination for attorney general.

The Republican candidates for congress were all renominated save W. H. Stafford. His support of Speaker Cannon in the last congress cost him his position. The platform convention will be controlled by the progressives, and a distinctly La Follette platform will be adopted.

The Democratic state ticket will get on the official ballot. That now seems assured by the returns, which show that 20 per cent of the normal vote was polled. As regards county and legislative tickets, the situation is different. In some counties the Democrats will get on the ballot, and in others they will not.

OVERWHELMING

Was the Defeat of Senator Burrows in Michigan.

Detroit, Sept. 8.—The battle for the Republican nominations which has been raging for more than a year, has ended by the nomination of Charles E. Townsend for United States senator by more than 25,000 votes over Senator J. C. Burrows, who has been a conspicuous figure in national politics for thirty-three years, and Charles E. S. Osborn is the winner for governor by approximately the same figures.

The showing of Senator Burrows was a great disappointment to his friends. Mr. Townsend overwhelmed the senator in practically every section of the state. Even the upper peninsula, which but a month ago was apparently solid for the senator, turned and gave Townsend a majority.

Lawton W. Hemans of Mason was nominated (unopposed) for governor on the Democratic ticket, and John T. Winship of Saginaw received the nomination for United States senator on the Democratic ticket.

Injured in Costly Blaze.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Two firemen and a night watchman were seriously injured by the flames in a disastrous fire last night at the plant of the Bishop & Babcock Opal Onyx Iceless Soda Fountain company. The plant was destroyed at a loss approximating $300,000.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

A hurricane of unusual violence swept over the island of Porto Rico, causing some loss of life and heavy damage to property.

The Pennsylvania railroad tunnel under East river, joining Manhattan and Long Islands, has been formally opened for passenger traffic.

The Italian police are still without a clue to the men who murdered Giuseppe Rugolino, a forest guard, and his wife and six children at Pellaro.

The divorced wife of Clarence Stanley, son of a rich farmer, killed his second wife at Campbell, Mo., because she demanded possession of the children by the first marriage.

Two persons were killed, fifteen were injured seriously, five perhaps fatally, and twenty others suffered minor injuries in the wreck of a train on the Great Northern at Coram, Mont.

Emphatic denial is made by Senator Elkins of rumors that he is preparing to go to Paris, or that his daughter Katherine will marry the Duke of the Abruzzi in February or at any other time.

HE THOUGHT HE COULD BEAT IT

"It" Having Reference to Another Man's Game.

AND NOW HIS MONEY IS GONE

An Iowa Farmer Visiting in Indiana Encounters a Gang of "Sharks" at Fort Wayne, Who Got What Money He Had and Sent Him Skurrying Gladly Home for More, Which They Also Appropriated.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 8.—After having lost $75 in a pool game with "sharks" in this city, Russell A. Boggs, a farmer, living near Grinnell, Ia., rushed frantically across several states to his home, obtained $450 more, hurried back to Fort Wayne and lost the money on the same proposition before he concluded that he had been swindled. The job is believed to have been the work of a gang of professional sharps that came to this city two weeks ago. The police department believes that three men now in jail, who say they are from Toledo, and give the names of Charles Rousel, Ed Smith and Charles Bernard, may know something of the alleged swindle.

Boggs says he came from his Iowa home to visit friends at Huntington, and made a trip to Fort Wayne to see this city. Here he fell in with an engaging young stranger, who told Boggs that he was the owner of the Anthony hotel and a number of other large buildings here. A little later Boggs was invited into a pool game. He won several dollars, and was so elated that he kept on playing with his newly-found friend and two other men until they told him he had won $400. The loser declined to pay, however, until assured that Boggs had funds sufficient to cover the losses had luck run against him. The Iowa man had only $75 in cash, but this he deposited with his "friend" and hurried back to Iowa for more cash.

Boggs returned from Iowa and deposited his new roll with his "friend." The loser then admitted that he was out of funds. Boggs accompanied him to a telegraph office, where he sent a telegram asking for money. When Boggs and the stranger returned the money and the men had disappeared. Boggs's total loss is $520.

SETTLED AT LAST

Newfoundland Fisheries Dispute Will Cease From Troubling.

The Hague, Sept. 8.—The international court of arbitration has rendered its decision in the Newfoundland fisheries case submitted by the governments of the United States and Great Britain. Neither country wins a clear-cut award, but the Americans claim a substantial victory.

For close on to one hundred years the Newfoundland fisheries dispute has been a source of irritation to the governments of England and the United States. Treaties have been unsatisfactory and commissions have failed to adjust annoying, sometimes dangerous, complications. The United States, although losing on the three-mile limit question, the most important contention, secured valuable privileges. American fishermen will not have to pay lighthouse duties or enter at custom houses, and they will be allowed to man their vessels with aliens.

DEADLY SHOCK

Two Men at Columbus, Ind., Become Victims of Live Wire.

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 8.—Harry O. Schwab, aged thirty, and John Hoffmeyer, aged sixty, were instantly killed by a live wire at the foot of Fifth street.

Schwab was a lineman employed by the Pennsylvania line, and Hoffmeyer a watchman at the crossing there. Schwab was engaged in stringing a copper telegraph wire across two insulated leads from the plant of the lighting company when the wire he was stringing sawed through the insulation. This gave the man 2,300 volts of electricity. He fell dead instantly.

Hoffmeyer is believed to have grasped the wire in an effort to pull it away from Schwab. His body was found on the railroad track about forty feet from that of the lineman.

THE DEUTSCHER CLUB THE COLONEL'S HOSTS

And It Was There He Had a Right Good Time.

Milwaukee, Sept. 8.—When he arrived here Mr. Roosevelt was told of the results of the primaries in which La Follette was again endorsed for the senatorship. He appeared to be pleased and said that he does not believe that La Follette can be defeated in the legislature. "An effort to beat him in the legislature," he said, "would be from every point of view an outrage and would be violation of good faith."

The colonel did not discuss any other politics. He was more anxious to go around town and see the city. He asked that he be taken to the Deutscher club, where he had been once before and had the time of his life. This club of Milwaukee Teutons is one of the most famous in the country. The colonel had counted on a German party, and they gave him one that was entirely satisfactory. There was plenty to go around and each was in good cheer. Mr. Roosevelt joined in the old familiar "Hoch Soli Er Leben," and he actually whooped with delight. He recalled that "while in Germany on my recent European tour I told the kaiser that I expected to visit Milwaukee in the near future and I would bear his compliments to the Deutscher club. I take this opportunity to present them."

It was a fine, intimate party, with plenty to eat and drink and the crowd enjoyed it. T. R. hated to break away from the songs and the rest, but he had other engagements. A dinner at the Press club and a speech at the auditorium wound up the day's doings. The colonel said before he left that it was one of the pleasantest days of the trip.
